A corps is being formed of Americans alone to proceed to Cuba. Already 600 names have been put on the roll. A mass meeting of Cubans will be held to-morrow evening to express indignation at the act of the Spanish authorities. General Quesada formed the expedition and it is said that 3000 names have been enrolled. A mass meeting of Cubans was held to-day, Cespedes, President of the Society of Friends of Cuba in the chair. Patriotic addresses were made and resolutions adopted calling for means to fit out a new expedition to the island. A committee of three was appointed to solicit subscriptions throughout the city. $12,000 has already been subscribed. The excitement among Cubans here is intense.

Official Returns of the Illinois Election.

CHICAGO, Nov 10—Official returns are published of elections in 94 of the 102 counties in Illinois, leaving only eight to be heard from. Forty nine of these counties have been carried by the Farmers or Anti Monopolists ticket, 15 by the regular Republican organization and 17 by the Democrats. In 13 counties (including Cook) the issue was foreign to party politics. Of the remaining eight counties not heard from six have heretofore been Democratic and two Republican. The farmers or anti-monopolists have opposed both the old parties in the late campaign. In this respect their victory has been almost unalloyed. They have carried 49 counties against the organization of Democrats or Republican party.

WASHINGTON CITY.

A[illegible] with the Virginius.

WASHINGTON, Nov 9—The Secretary of State has sent instructions to both Minister Sickles at Madrid, and Consul General Hall at Havana, to telegraph as soon as [illegible] with regard to the capture of the Virginius and the execution of parties on board. Hall replies that there is some interruption of the telegraph line between Havana and Santiago de Cuba, and as yet he has been unable to learn particulars. A dispatch from Minister Sickles states that the [illegible] Government had no information of the execution until after it had occurred. The only information our Government now has is the fact that the Virginius was captured, and that several persons on her were executed, but as to in what waters and under what circumstances the vessel was captured, no information has been received. Our Government is not satisfied that the Virginius was entitled to the protection of the United States. It is true she sailed from New York under American register but it has been charged she was sold to Quesada some fifteen or eighteen months ago, at Curacoa and since that time has been sailing under both Cuban and Venezuelan flags. The indications are that the Spanish Government is disposed to act in a perfectly honest manner with the United States.

No new facts in relation to the Virginius have transpired to-day. The Department of State and Minister Sickles are in telegraphic correspondence on the subject. The Spanish Government claims to have acted in good faith in ordering a delay of punishment of the passengers and crew and regrets that its telegram was not received in Cuba before the execution took place. The difficulty seems to be in the inefficiency of that Government to control affairs in Cuba in this as well as in other matters. Our Government is engaged in efforts to stay proceedings as to the remainder on board the Virginius until the facts can be fully ascertained.

NEW YORK, Nov 9—A Washington special says the Secretary of the Navy has telegraphed to Rear Admiral Scott, commanding the North Atlantic squadron, to proceed in person or send a vessel to Santiago de Cuba without delay to co-operate with Vice Consul Schmitt at that place in protecting the interests of this country in the affair of the Virginius.

CHICAGO, Nov 10—A Tribune's Washington special referring to the Speakership says Blaine keeps out of the way, and is quoted as in favor of a Republican caucus, relieving him from all responsibility in the premises. The Credit Mobilier members have been in bad odor with their colleagues since the recent elections. John A. Kasson has dropped his aspirations for the Speakership and is working for the Chairmanship of the Ways and Means Committee. Lyman Tremaine is also nominated for one prominent Committee, and Wheeler, of New York, is still in the field for Speaker but with small prospects against Blaine. Clinton L. Soon after the work of distribution commenced it was ascertained that the Piutes and Pishutes had allied and were about to engage in a general fight against the Shoshones. The trouble originated partially on account of the distribution and partially on account of former troubles. The Indian interpreter however ascertained the condition of affairs and the separation of the tribes and redistribution had to be resorted to to restore good feeling. To-night the chief of all the tribes met in the Sheriff's office to discuss the reservation question. Much Smoke but Little Fire in the "Chemeketa."

SALEM, Nov 10—The Chemeketa Hotel in this city caught fire from a defective flue last night and although the building was filled with smoke from about 9 o'clock the fire was not discovered until about half past eleven, when the alarm was given and the Fire Department was promptly on hand, Tiger No. 2 being the first to throw water on the fire. After the arrival of the engines it was impossible to discover the source of the fire or where the building was burning, as the entire building was filled with smoke. The origin of the fire was however discovered to be from a defective flue in the barber shop in the basement, and as soon as it became definitely settled, the engines poured two heavy streams of water for about an hour until the fire was finally extinguished. The damage is comparatively small, being more from water than fire. Insured for $27,000 in the Imperial and Phœnix, $10,000 in each on the building, and $7,000 in the Phœnix on the furniture. The Western Union Telegraph Company and Wells, Fargo & Co. had their offices in this building, and were damaged to a slight extent from water. It is impossible to estimate the loss at this time.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION

THE NOBLEST OF AMERICAN CHARITIES—ITS HISTORY AND ORGANIZATIONS.

[From the St. Louis Times.]

This association, which has labored so effectually and done so much to relieve the sick and ease the sufferings of the dying, was originally instituted in 18[illegible]. It is an institution of 40 years growth. It had its start first out of the direful necessities of the people of New Orleans, and has ever since maintained itself as the chief nurse and conservator of the sick throughout the Southwest during all seasons of general or epidemic sickness. The association was first organized in 1837. Its original corporators, as the New Orleans Times informs us, were Thomas N. Morgan, J. W. Andrews, [illegible] Kunckel, [illegible] Beeckley and P. W. Leslie. These gentlemen, most of whom have since passed away off the stage of action, were true philanthropists. They achieved a great deal of good in their day. There is a tradition that as far back as 1833 the principle which now animates the association was realized in New Orleans by four young men, clerks in different banking houses in that city, who combined together for the nursing of the sick, but the distinct organization was not effected until some few years afterwards. Since that time the Howard Association has been an active agency of relief. There is scarcely a house in any part of New Orleans where the infection penetrates but has sacred traditions of sickness attended or pain assuaged or death [illegible] by the ministrations of that grand fraternity.

WESTERN MYTHOLOGY.—The [illegible] is responsible for this: In the early days of Hillsdale the pious old men thought it necessary to have a Sabbath school. One of the leading young men was chosen for superintendent. The position was new to him, but he determined not to [illegible] the responsibility. Thinking that it would be proper for him to make a little opening speech he cleared his throat and started in: "Boys and children, you are very fortunate in being born in a Christian land. There are thousands in the world not so fortunate. It is particularly gratifying to know that you live in that portion of the earth where [illegible]. Now my dear children, there's the Mormons, they worship old Mormon; there's the Mohammedans, they worship old Mahomet; the Heathens, they worship old Heathen; there's the Hindoos, they worship old Hindoo; and there's the Pagans, they worship old Pagan; while we worship whom we please. Teachers will now hear their classes recite."

Col. R. B. Rhett, Jr., editor, and Capt. [illegible] Dill, assistant editor, of the New Orleans Picayune, have resigned their positions, the Board of Managers having adopted a resolution declaring that the pressure of the times compels a more co-operative system in the publishing of the paper.

THE REPUBLICAN PRESS AND PARTY

Why should the Republican press of this State, or of the country, be ruled by the politicians instead of ruling them? Some editors, it is true, hold office under the party and some papers can not afford to be independent. But the great multitude own themselves in every sense and their voice would be a power that no mere politician could withstand. General Butler professes to despise the newspapers. But they have bowled him over more than once. The plain speaking of the Boston Daily Advertiser just before the nomination in that State was a much more serious and significant event than the open defection from the party of several politicians like General Banks. And why? Because a newspaper is a political orator who talks to the voters everywhere and every day. In this country and under our system there is no influence more powerful. Why should not that power be used for the best purpose? Why should not the press instead of the politicians give the law to the party?

There are journals which seem to suppose that a party is endangered if all its acts and all its men are not indiscriminately extolled. On the contrary it is endangered if they are. What! says Party Spirit, shall we foul our own nest? Certainly not. But let us try to prevent it; but if we cannot, let us not pretend to like it. For instance, the gentlemen who managed the Republican Convention at Utica were fully informed that Mr. William B. Taylor was not a proper person to nominate for State Engineer because he uniformly supported the canal ring. But notwithstanding this information and protest, they chose to nominate him. It is the duty of the Republican press, therefore, not to say that he should be supported because he was regularly nominated, but that every Republican who votes for him injures the party. The triumphant election of the rest of the ticket, which is admirable, and the defeat of the candidate for State Engineer would be an unmistakable proof of the moral soundness of the party. If the condition of Republican supremacy is docile support of all the measures that the party managers may adopt, and praise of all the candidates they may nominate, Republican supremacy ought to be in great danger.

The error of the press to which we allude arises from mistaking the ground upon which a party is supported. It is not because all its men and measures are approved, but because in the opinion of the majority of voters the public welfare is better subserved by the domination of one party than another. Thus the silence or the sophistry of our Republican brethren of the press in regard to the President and the back pay does not deceive the party. They know the facts and the immense majority of Republicans everywhere regret his action, while the prestidigitation of the platform which condemns the votes for the grab and exonerates the signature that made it operative only excites a smile. But those Republicans do not therefore wish that Mr Greeley had been elected, nor do they propose to show their regret by supporting the Democratic party. There were leading Democrats in this State who were inflexibly hostile to Texan annexation, upon which ground Mr Van Buren was defeated in the Convention of 1844 and Mr Polk nominated, but they nevertheless supported Mr Polk and his Oregon policy and his general administration. They thought that even with these faults it was better for the country, upon the whole, than a Whig administration. But when the power that annexed Texas and nominated Mr Polk showed that it meant to control the party absolutely, those Democrats left the party, for they were persuaded that the chance of Whig success or of any other result was preferable to that certainty. That is the history of the dissolution of all parties. And when a large body of intelligent Republicans see that the acts and tendencies which they disapprove are not exceptional nor of less peril than the chances of Democratic ascendency, but are the rule and the spirit of their party, they will step out and take the risk of the deluge.

Now nothing can so surely prolong Republican supremacy as a courageous Republican press. If the managers of the Convention at Utica had known that if they nominated Mr Taylor the Republican press of the State would have protested, and would have exhorted the party not to vote for him, the managers would not have dared to place his name upon the ticket. So with Congress. It will soon assemble, and unhappily honorable gentlemen have come to believe that they have but to set the tune and the party organs will obediently grind it from Maine to the Pacific. Let the Republican press undeceive them. Let Congress know that its party friends are jealous of the party fame and do not mean to imperil Republican supremacy by winking at any jobbery or unsound legislation. The opposition will of course denounce everything. Let the party press denounce everything that is unworthy the Republican character and best traditions. Shall we not leave hostility to our opponents? you ask. Hostility to what? Shall any press or party be swifter to expose errors and censure extravagance or corruption than the Republicans?

Mr Shepherd, for instance, is to be nominated for Governor of the District of Columbia. The Senate ought not to confirm the nomination. The Republican party can not carry such reputations. Shall not Republican newspapers say what Republicans very well know and privately declare? Nobody for a moment suspects the President of the least improper motive. But it is a mistake to nominate a person under such suspicion as Mr Shepherd, even if the President has no conclusive proof against him. The public mind is very sensitive since the Credit Mobilier and the salary grab, and if Senators choose to disdain its opinion upon those subjects let them hear the voice of the Republican press assuring them that Republicans are impatient of much that they see and demand a change in many things. The confirmation of a nomination like that of Mr Shepherd in deference to [illegible] feeling [illegible] in the salary grab spirit of extravagance would all help to that class of acts and tendencies whose accumulation would compel thoughtful men to wonder whether a party which allows them is still indispensable to the welfare of the country. This was the question that the conscience Whigs asked when the Baltimore Convention of 1852 surrendered to slavery, and the Whig party was gone in 1856. This was the question that the Free soil Democrats began to ask in 1844, and from that moment the party was doomed. This is the question which the Republican press and Congress can, if they will, prevent such men from asking of the Republican party.—Harper's Weekly, Nov. 1.

AN ELEGANT SHIPWRECK

A SHIPLOAD OF PASSENGERS PRECIPITATED INTO THE SEA WITH A WHOLE MENAGERIE OF TIGERS, ELEPHANTS, ETC.

The news of the wreck of the steamer [illegible] off Colombo has already been telegraphed to the press. The details of the disaster are quite exciting. It appears, according to a letter to the London Times of the 4th inst., that the captain, to save fuel, sought an anchorage outside the port. The pilot let go the anchor too near a well known rock, and the sea, tumbling in as it knows how to tumble off Galle in the southwest monsoon, caused the chain cable to part and the vessel to surge heavily on the rock. The work of destruction was rapid. Those on board were startled by the metallic sound of the ripping iron, and soon the steamer, as her hull was torn in shreds by the piercing rock, [illegible]. There was but time to [illegible]. The vessel was fast filling, and to save passengers' luggage was hopeless. They had barely time to escape into the boats as the seas came tumbling over the sides, sweeping everything before them, carrying away one poor [illegible] sailor, and bursting open the cages and dens of an extensive menagerie on board going home for the Zoological Gardens. The escape and the striking out amid the waves of a crowd of tigers, elephants, etc., and their roars and screams added to the terror of the wretched passengers. One elephant managed to swim ashore, as did one of the tigers, and the inhabitants of the adjacent coast are said to be living in a state of siege, not daring to venture outside their barricaded doors.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LEGISLATURE.

Fourth Biennial Session.

[From our Special Correspondent.]

OLYMPIA, Nov 8, 1873.

The following bills were introduced this morning:

H B No 153 by Mr Kuhn—For the relief of S. J. Mastick & Co. Read twice and referred.

H B No 154 by Mr Burk—Act to aid in constructing a wagon road from Kalama to Lewis river.

H B No 155 by Mr Russell—Amending an act providing for assessing and collecting Territorial revenue.

H B No 156—Act amending an act relative to incorporating Steilacoom.

All the above were read twice and referred.

H B No 157 by Mr Clymer—relative to survey of streets of Seattle. Passed.

H B No 158 by Mr Caton—To repeal an act perfecting land titles in Washington Territory. Passed.

The bill to regulate fees and costs was passed.

C B No 21, relative to quartz mining claims, was referred.

The bill providing for building a bridge across the Nisqually river and relocating Territorial road, was passed.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The ladies were out in full force this afternoon (probably 100 were present) to witness the fate of the woman suffrage bill, which was made the special order for 2 o'clock. The house was crowded to excess, the Council being provided with seats within the bar. The House was called to order by the Speaker punctually at the hour named, and at 10 minutes past 2 three members were reported absent. Two of them soon after entered the House, and the only one remaining absent was the Hon. Frank Clark of Pierce and Mason. The Sergeant at Arms was then detailed to look for Mr Clark, but as time passed by Mr Clark was not forthcoming, and a report being brought to the House that the gentleman had left for Steilacoom for the purpose of dodging the question, a motion was made by Mr Henry to have the Speaker issue a warrant for the arrest of Mr Clark. A motion to dispense with the further calling of the House was lost, and Mr Clark thus kept 250 people awaiting his pleasure until a quarter of 3, when he was announced and made a suitable excuse for his absence.

Mr Eldridge then spoke in favor of the bill for one hour, dealing with the subject manfully, earnestly and eloquently. He considered that the Declaration of Independence, which makes all men free and equal, was designed to mean women also, and that our Government was instituted to give life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness to woman as well as to man; in order to adjust the laws laid down in the Declaration of Independence it would be necessary to grant woman the power to vote. The honorable gentleman did not consider that, because corruption exists in the affairs of our Government, it would therefore be a degradation to woman to have anything to do with them. On the contrary, he was of opinion that if woman was allowed to take her place side by side with man in conducting the affairs of government, corruption would be rooted out completely, and a true and honest policy would thereby be inaugurated. The gentleman then read a letter from the Chief Justice of Wyoming Territory on the subject, which plainly showed that the government of that Territory has been benefited in every way, socially and politically, since the admission of women to public offices; that in their Legislature, courts of law, public meetings, and elsewhere there had been less smoking, chewing, spitting tobacco juice, and other evils indulged; the police had fewer arrests to make for drunkenness, and in every way society had changed for the better since woman had been delivered from slavery; and the only way the Hon gentleman could see of advancing the prosperity and welfare of our country at the present crisis was to give women the power to vote. An attempt was made to applaud the gentleman at the conclusion of his speech, which was promptly suppressed by the Speaker. The question being put as to the final passage of the bill, the following was the result:

Ayes—Messrs Bush, Brazee, Burk, Clark (of Clarke), Cline, Clark (of Pierce), Eldridge, Favorite, Gale, Henry, Kuhn, Ward. Total 12.

Nays—Abbott, Bryant, Cook, Crockett, Clymer, Gosnell, Harriman, Hodges, Hovey, Judson, Lacy, Moore, Ping, Russell, Rodgers, Van Vleet, Yantis, Mr Speaker. Total 18.

So the bill was lost. After which the House adjourned to Monday.

Mrs Duniway, although seemingly disappointed, does not appear to have lost hopes of being finally successful on this matter of national importance. I believe the interest felt on the subject this time has been greater than any ever exhibited before in this Territory, and if time thus affects it, it will be a most momentous question, I think, with our next Legislature, and one on which everything else will be based.

This is the third time in which the cause of woman has been thrust aside during the session.

1st—The repealing of the act concerning property as affected by marriage, which was a direct inroad on right to which she, as an American citizen, was fully entitled.

2d—The [illegible] of the [illegible] bill, by which she was debarred from exercising the right to which all American mothers and wives should be entitled—that is the right to sign or not sign a petition to have licenses granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors.

3d and last—She has lost the bill entitling her to the privilege of the ballot, which would have (if passed) made up for all the disappointments she has recently met with.

In conclusion I will say, that if the majority of our Legislature were single instead of married men the last bill would in all probability have been passed without any trouble; but our most potent, grave and reverend fathers know too much (?) to get caught, and if women do their duty it will not be well for some of the honorable gentlemen when they reach their paternal mansions, and perhaps a few may wish that their mansions were in the skies.

AN UNFAITHFUL WIFE BLOWS HER HEAD OFF

At Kansas City, Mo., on the 8th inst., in Mc[illegible]'s Addition, Mrs. Catherine Selman was found in her house with her head blown to pieces. The Times of that city says that she committed suicide owing to domestic troubles. Upon the walls and ceiling of the room were pieces of flesh and clots of blood spattered upon the whitewash, showing that the force of the explosion must have been very powerful indeed. Death must have ensued almost instantaneously.

Mrs Selman has been upon very intimate terms with a man named Rudolf Fusel, a clerk in the employ of Mr Lorie, a clothing merchant on Grand avenue. Last week Mr Lorie dispensed with Fusel's services on account of his intimacy with Mrs Selman. This intimacy between these two people has been the cause of much domestic trouble between Mr and Mrs Selman and has finally culminated in a sickening tragedy.

On the coroner's inquest the husband of the woman testified—About one week ago I offered Mr Fusel to turn over to him my wife and all her effects for the sum of $100; the next day after this offer was made Fusel called me over the street, and after treating me said that he could not give me $100, but proposed to let matters go on as they were then. After this conversation with Fusel I told my wife about it; she reported that if Fusel gave her up she would either shoot herself or elope with him.

The verdict was one of suicide, the evidence showing that because her lover had refused to visit her she loaded a pistol with powder to the muzzle, put it in her mouth and blew her head off.

It is proposed in South Carolina to devote the funds collected for a State monument to Calhoun to the erection of a Calhoun Monumental Home in Charleston, for the support of the widows and the education of the children of fallen Confederate soldiers during the rebellion.

Last week Mr Burrows, gas manufacturer at Seattle, tried coal from the Clymer mine on Black river, and found it adapted to gas making and that it would coke.

The grain and potato crops in some parts of Montana have been almost total failures this year. The angelic grasshopper did it for the grain and Jack Frost for the farinaceous tuber.

The auction rooms of Mr A. J. Littlejohn, at Olympia, were broken into Thursday night of last week, and goods abstracted to the amount of some $60. No clue to the perpetrator of the act has yet been obtained.

The Transcript learns that while under treatment for supposed cancer, Mr Jones, Superintendent of the Bellingham Bay coal mine, had medicine put upon his face that has since eaten into it until his life is despaired of.

The following officers were elected at Steilacoom on the 3d inst.: P. Keach, Mayor; Adolph Packscher, James Ross, N. H. Orr, James Hughes, D. W. C. Davisson, W. R. Downey and F. Spining, Councilmen; John R. Reynolds, Recorder; Isaac Pincus, Treasurer; O. C. Baldy, Marshal; Samuel Roberts, Assessor.

A recent geological survey of the new Territories reveals the important and gratifying fact that on the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad, in the Rocky Mountain district, there exists a coal-bearing region of 250,000 square miles in extent, the strata of available fuel buried there varying in thickness from five to thirty-five feet.

The tunnel of the Sierra Madre Tunnel Company, of Colorado, upon which considerable work has already been done, will be twelve miles long, and its greatest depth, at James Peak, will be 6,000 feet. The objects of this stupendous work are to afford a means of working the discovered mines rapidly and cheaply, to discover and open new veins, and afford a track for a railway.

Considerable business has been transacted during the month of October at the U. S. Land Office for the Walla Walla land district, as the following abstract of business done there will show: 21 declaratory statements filed for 3,360 acres; 14 homesteads filed for 1,920 acres; final homestead proof filed for 160 acres; cash entries for 518 acres. Total number of acres disposed of for the month of October, 5,958.

The Walla Walla Real Estate Record says: "Many of our farmers with whom we have conversed, put the average yield of wheat, this side of the Cascades, at 40 bushels per acre. A few seem to think this estimate too high, and think 35 bushels nearer correct. We are willing to accept the lowest estimate. The surplus wheat crop for this year in this valley, as near as we can determine, is from 800,000 to 1,000,000 bushels. Of oats, rye and barley, of which there was a large crop, we can form no estimate, either as to the amount raised per acre, or of the surplus. In Stevens and Whitman counties the average per acre is about the same as in this district. Their surplus is about 150,000 bushels, which will have to be held until another season, as they have no market."

The Tacoma Tribune of last Friday says: "Three rich Indians and three squaws down the Sound, who wanted to do something good and liberal before going to "the happy hunting grounds," gave a grand potlatch near Freeport, in King county, during the past few days. They commenced giving on Saturday last and, except Sunday, continued their carnival to last evening, when everything in the world the three Indians and their squaws possessed had been given away. About $2,000 in money and $1,000 in goods (the accumulations of their lifetimes) were given to 3,700 other Indians. Long notice was given, and they gathered together from every point west of the Cascade mountains—many going on horseback, hundreds by steamer, and the remainder in canoes, of which no less than 300 were there at one time."

Transactions in real estate at Walla Walla were larger in October than in any previous month of the year. The city of Walla Walla, says the Real Estate Record, has a population of about 2,400. The county contains about 8,000 inhabitants. The following is the number of various business houses, professions, churches, schools, etc., in the city: Churches 7; schools 7—2 public and 5 sectarian; secret societies 5; banks 2; assayers 2; express offices 2; insurance offices 4; lawyer offices 10; real estate office 1; U. S. Land Office 1; newspaper and job printing offices 3; physicians 9; dentists 3; surveyors 4; jewelers 3; hotels 4; restaurants 2; general merchandise 12; commission houses 3; groceries and provisions 6; cigars and tobacco 5; drug stores 4; book stores 1; confectioners 2; bakeries 2; nurseries 4; hardware 4; harness and saddle shops 4; wagon and carriage shops 2; blacksmith shops 8; carpenter shops 5; cooper 1; paint shops 4; tailors 2; boot and shoe shops 1; gunsmith 1; milliners 2; photograph 1; barber shops 2; meat markets 3; bag factory 1; flouring mills 3; planing mills 3; foundry and machine shop 1; lumber yards 4; livery stables 7; laundry 1; saloons 25; breweries 1; distillery 1; billiard halls 5; bowling alley 1.

TUESDAY MORNING NOV 11 1873

A NEGLECTED ARTIST

When a few days since we read in the Boston Herald a report of an amusing lecture delivered in a lyceum course in that city by Thomas Nast, we did not think of looking for any traces of the grim pathos of starvation and want which the romancers tell us very frequently underlie the happiest efforts of the world's great wit. Nor do we yet know that the fiends of poverty and famine haunt the household and the bowels of the famous caricaturist. But in the New York Herald of October 29th we notice a letter from an admirer of Nast in which the correspondent calls on all who can appreciate genius to contribute to a fund for the relief of the artist. He cites Mr Nast's services against Andrew Johnson and Horace Greeley and says Nast refused an offer of $100 000 from Boss Tweed to be paid if he would quit the Tammany fight and leave the country. The correspondent says that after the November election certain Republican friends wanted to present Nast with a solid token of reward. Among them was President Grant. But the plan was never carried out, "and now" says the correspondent "this poor young man of genius is compelled to wander over America like a showman, and make speeches and draw pictures on blackboards for a living to support his family."

We cannot, for the life of us, see just how Mr Thomas Nast can suffer by "wandering over America" delivering lectures. Dr Lord Charles Sumner Col Higginson, Wendell Phillips, Gen Banks, as well as Charles Dickens and Thackeray and Bradlaugh, have done precisely the same thing. And no one ever thought it necessary to raise a fund for Petroleum V Nasby. Mr Nast is a genius and like all geniuses he is not wealthy. It is quite likely that he is not ashamed to work for a living, and that he will be mortified to read this appeal from a kind but indiscreet friend.

But the Herald, with its magnificent ideas of men and things, takes up with the suggestion of the correspondent. In an editorial article it remarks that Mr Nast has the genius of Hogarth, and has only been prevented by a cruel fate from showing it." The Herald continues

> Any student in the next century would look through Mr Nast's work in vain for such a picture of our day and its manners as Hogarth left behind him of the England of our ancestors. Both the satire and political purpose of Hogarth was art's truth—that quality in art that lives forever. We think Mr Nast has this quality, but thus far all that any student of the future would see in his work would be the nose of Andrew Johnson, the spectacles of Oakey Hall, the diamond of Boss Tweed, the white coat of poor Greeley and the incredible legs of Carl Schurz. Drawings like these have a certain aptness and catching quality especially when tacked on to a loud ringing political cry. But they belong to the season like the autumn weeds which die with the snow. Art like this has false quality, and in art, as in all things, falsehood is death. We think Mr Nast could win a name like that of Hogarth, but as yet he has won no such enduring fame. He has wide notoriety, but his place in art is like the place of Dan Bryant—the person who blacks his face and sings "Shoo Fly" in music. There is genius required to sing "Shoo Fly," but we do not say that Mr Bryant is as great in music as the author of "Fidelio."

The Herald then announces its willingness to contribute liberally to a fund for the relief of Mr Nast, and says that the Harpers can best answer the charge that they have "ground into the dust the man who founded their fortunes," by subscribing a handsome amount for his support.

> With the assurance of a competence the genius of the artist will take its true, natural flight. No longer compelled to draw libels on a religious denomination to please Bishop Simpson and the Methodist Church or to compose grotesque and painful caricatures for the gratification of Thomas Murphy and Henry Clews Mr Nast will show us the genius of Hogarth. Let us all unite, then, to raise him out of the mud and ruck of politics. A man who sings and dances "Shoo Fly" so brilliantly can do something better.

In response to this appeal sympathizing letters and four bit contributions came pouring in from all quarters. One sympathizer writes "I do not think Mr Editor that I exaggerate when I say that this young man, by the brilliant exploits of his artistic genius, saved the Republic in electing General Grant to a second term. Please accept $2." Another says "Your editorial upon the sad case of Mr Nast has touched a chord in my bosom, and I readily respond. Tears sprung to my eyes and half a dollar to my fingers. I subscribe fifty cents." It is enclosed. We shall save him from want. Another correspondent suggests that "it is only fair that an assessment on the office holders of the country should be made to recompense their greatest benefactor."

This method of endowing genius is an eminently democratic one. We have heard however, of instances where something of the kind was quite successful. A subscription was once raised in Portland by the mercenary brigade to aid one of these office holders to go to Washington and interview the headwaters of patronage. But we should think the process would be mortifying to any man of sensibilities. Mr Nast could wish no better subject for a side splitting caricature than the picture of the benevolent Bennett receiving humble gifts for the endowment of the great American caricaturist.

ONCE MORE PROVE OR RETRACT

Our attention has been called to the following paragraph which appeared in the Bulletin of Saturday

> It has been but a short time since the proprietor of the OREGONIAN was before our Legislature offering $6,000 coin for votes to return him to the Senate paying part of the money with his own hands

We have but one reply to make to this scandalous charge. It is of a piece with the cowardly attack of that dirty dog David Powell on the Republicanism of W Lair Hill. The allegation quoted above is a lie and the man who wrote it is a liar. We can use no plainer language. If the Bulletin wants to enter again on this old discussion we may feel called upon to tell what we know about a certain Senator from one of the counties south of Lane, and a certain gentleman from Benton county. Perhaps if Senator Mitchell in his remorseful moments had not divulged so much we had not known so much. We know all about the burning of that document in the little room just back of the hall of the House of Representatives and the Postmaster of this city did not tell us either. The Bulletin has made a grave charge affecting character. It alleges a crime which is made punishable by law. Will it prove it or will it wait until after the 25th of December? Sabe?

AS TO THE BULLETIN'S SUGGESTIONS

The Bulletin of Saturday says it is authorized to state that there can be presented the names of witnesses who can be summoned to prove that it was by bribery and fraud the Dalles and Wasco county were carried by the Democrats. We hope the Grand Jury now in session will summon the editor and associate editor of the Bulletin to divulge the sources of their information. If the Democrats of Wasco county have engaged in bribery and other corrupt means to carry that county we demand that they be put in the felon's dock along with the Mulkeys and the Witherells. This is no time for evading or "whipping the devil round the stump." We want this whole business of bribery proved to the bottom. If the Bulletin can assist the respectable portion of this community in the work, it ought to do it.

RATHER ROUGH

The Jacksonville Sentinel hits the Bulletin a very severe rap in the following comment on Judge Deady's charge to the Grand Jury in the U S District Court. The Sentinel says

> We regret that we have not room for the entire charge but have selected those paragraphs containing the full idea of the learned gentleman's opinion in the matter. The sentiments expressed cannot avoid recognition as perfect truth by any one who has rightly considered the subject and will meet the full approbation of every man who has at heart the good of the country and desires the perpetuity of our institutions.

Considering the very friendly relations existing between the Sentinel and the repeaters' organ the above is a severe thrust at that organ for its malignant attack upon his Honor Judge Deady for his presumption in not submitting his charge to the "ring" before delivering it to the Grand Jury.

During the past week we have had an opportunity of examining with some degree of care the historical chart prepared and published by our fellow-citizen S C Adams of Salem. The work is planned on a liberal scale. It deals with all nations and with all ages of the race from Adam to Adams—from the generations of the patriarchs to the present day. "The object of this chart" says the author in his brief preface "is to assist the mind in clearly fixing along down the stream of time the time when the events of the world's history took place. The time when (i e Chronology) and the place where (i e Geography) are the two great eyes of history."

"And all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years and he died"—is the brief epitaph of the world's first man. From Adam and Eve as they appear in the Garden dressed in the prevailing fashion, up to the Confusion of Tongues the centuries and peoples are symbolized. Here are cuts of the rude stone implements and cumbrous utensils illustrations of the sculpture and pictorial language with copies of the Rosetta and the Moabite stones, all of the primitive ages leading us up to the Tower of Babel. Here the plan of the chart is first made manifest. Here is the Ark resting on Ararat and the huge edifice on the plain in the land of Shinar. From this point five streams of empire diverge Phœnicia Egypt, Babylon, Greece and China. The Stream of Time is denoted by a broad black belt running the entire length of the chart and divided by transverse lines of red into years and by large black pillars into centuries. Above it is the record of sacred history below are the streams of empire of which we have spoken or profane history. Along these streams may be traced the names of rulers and the periods of their reigns printed in various colors that they may be easily distinguished. From these streams of empire smaller branches are continually breaking off as for instance where the Pelasgi from Thessaly settle Latium. Here starts the stream which bears Æneas, "fato profugus," in whose long line comes Romulus "suckled of the she wolf" and founder of the Eternal City. Continuing from Romulus the stream presently takes on the hue of the royal purple the empire with frontiers guarded by valor and ancient renown expands by conquest until in the fortieth century A M the purple overflows the chart. Egypt Syria Asia Minor, Greece are absorbed in the Roman Empire and lose their identity. Here Cleopatra the last of the Ptolemies, dies from the bite of the asp. Pompey meets Cæsar at Pharsalia the Augustan age begins. Virgil Cicero and Horace appear while above the Stream of Time Bethlehem nestles in the bosom of Judea and the Magi appear bearing their gifts of frankincense and myrrh.

The chart is filled with interesting emblems of the various ages of man. There are for instance the Tower of Babel—a handsome tinted engraving—the Pyramids the city of Babylon the Winged Gods of the Assyrians and the Death of Socrates weapons of warfare and implements of husbandry portraits of Homer Lycurgus Cicero Virgil and Cæsar all faithful likenesses of the originals to the best of our knowledge and belief. In sacred history we have the Temple of Solomon of which the author tells us "David collected forty-eight thousand tons of gold and silver with which Solomon built the temple—estimated value by some $35 520 000 000." Scenes in biblical history and several elegant interpretations of the visions of Daniel. The lithographic work is we believe done by a house in Cincinnati. It is a creditable work of art.

Altogether Mr Adams has produced a work which is an honor to himself and a valuable contribution to literature. His Chronological Chart is the most complete and the most reliable compendium of history of which we have any knowledge. He deserves the fame and the fortune which await him. We are proud that a citizen of our young State has thus distinguished himself in a field where the workers are so numerous and skillful. We understand that he is meeting remarkable success in disposing of his Chart. Already we are told he has been offered the sum of $40 000 for one-half interest in the enterprise. This offer he has declined.

The portion of the Chart which has been brought to our notice represents eight-tenths of the entire work. Our gentlemanly friend Gov Davis informs us that the Chart will be completed about the first of December. We recommend Mr Adams and his life labor to the people of Oregon and hope as we have said that he will meet with the reward to which his diligence and his noble zeal entitle him.

THE LAMB DAVENPORT CASE

We give below a statement of the U S Supreme Court decision in the above suit as taken from the Sacramento Union differing somewhat from the press dispatches published here a day or two since, and perhaps a little clearer. It is evident that the decision of this case as made in the Circuit Court by Judges Sawyer and Deady was affirmed by the Supreme Court as has likewise been done with all the other decisions thus far made in said Court by Judge Deady concerning the Port land Land titles which have been appealed from

WASHINGTON Nov 4th

> In the Supreme Court to-day in the case of Lamb vs Davenport on appeal from the Circuit Court for Oregon it was held that contracts made by actual settlers on the public land concerning their possessory rights and concerning title to be acquired in the future from the United States are valid as between parties to the contract though there be at the time no act of Congress by which it may be acquired and though the Government is under no obligation to either of the parties in regard to the title unless they (the contracts) are forbidden by positive law. The provision of the Oregon donation act of 1850 which forbids the future sale of a settler's interest until patent shall issue so far from invalidating such contracts made before its passage raises a strong implication in favor of their validity and whether husband or wife who takes as survivor the share of deceased under the Donation act takes as purchaser or by inheritance it is held that contracts of a husband concerning the equitable interest of the part allotted to him made before the donation act was passed are binding on the title which comes to his children by reason of the patent issued after the death of both husband and wife. The decree of the Circuit Court was affirmed.—Justice Miller delivered the opinion

A Washington dispatch states that the question of recognizing the independence of Cuba will be presented to the coming Congress and urged upon its attention by ardent friends. A gentleman whose relations with the President are very intimate says the President is greatly interested in Cuba and will endeavor to ascertain the sentiment of the country with reference to the recognition of its independence. The gentleman also affects to know that the recognition by Congress will be unequivocally urged in the President's next message notwithstanding the violent opposition of General Sickles and Secretary Fish. It is said that an expedition of great strength is now fitting out in this country for the insurgents and that there is an unusual activity on the part of their friends and, finally that there is less bluster and display and more work going now than ever before. In addition those who believe in a solid recognition of the movement will be materially assisted by a powerful lobby based on the old Cuban bonds which it is surmised may be of value if the island becomes independent.

The report of the Sixth Auditor to the Secretary of the Treasury shows that the present number of the accounts of postmasters is 32 065 being an increase of 1 741 during the year. The amount of quarterly accounts in the Department of Foreign Mails equals $1 900,340. The expenses during the fiscal year have been as follows. For contractors numbering 20 326 $13,473,545 collection orders to postmasters $4 013 916 mail messenger service $514 116 railroad postal clerks and route agents $1 830 894 miscellaneous accounts $1 002,080 letter carriers and special agents $1,422,495. The number of domestic money orders issued during the year was 3 355 686 amounting to $67 416 214. British money orders issued 65 502, amounting to $1 364 476. Swiss money orders issued 2 801 amounting to $78 313. German money orders issued 19 454 amounting to $420 722.

The Boston Advertiser of Oct 27th says of the closing of the New England mills

> At the time the panic began the large New England establishments were in excellent condition and were fully prepared for an active and prosperous season. In the complicated system of related interest depending upon public confidence they were the last to feel the pressure and most reluctant to yield to it. It is still the opinion of many leading manufacturers that the reduction will be but temporary and while it lasts it will be so distributed as to cause the least possible inconvenience to the operatives affected by it.

CITY.

NEARLY ESCAPED.—The man Brown who [illegible] an escape from the city jail here about a month ago and was arrested for larceny at [illegible] City two weeks ago tried convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years and came very near breaking jail last [illegible] He nearly got away from his keeper on Sunday while coming down to Salem In custody with Sheriff Poindexter Brown took the [illegible] train and started for the Penitentiary On the way down the prisoner asked [illegible] brakesman if great danger would attend a leap from the train while it was in motion The brakesman replied that it would [illegible] hazardous experiment any person who should attempt such a thing would be [illegible] sustain serious if not fatal injuries [illegible] piece of unpleasant information appeared to satisfy the curiosity of Brown for the time being When some distance below Albany, Poindexter who was seated near the prisoner observed him constantly handling the chain attached to his leg Surmising that Brown meant mischief, the Sheriff at length arose and examined the chain To his great surprise he discovered that the prisoner had, by some means unknown to all but himself, pried the iron clasp which inclosed his ankle almost wide enough apart to allow the foot to slip out It was fortunate that the discovery was made in time Brown's intention no doubt was to free himself from the incumbrance of the manacle and leaping from the train when it was under full speed trust to chance to make his escape Sheriff Poindexter, on making the discovery clapped on the prisoner's wrists a pair of handcuffs and guarded him closely for the remainder of the distance Unless heavily ironed Brown will make it lively for the Penitentiary keepers

JOHN COMES TO GRIEF.—The redoubtable John Smith who could never perceive the impropriety of drawing checks on the banks and signing other persons' names to them has at length come to grief John was indicted several weeks ago by the grand jury for uttering a forged check but through some technicality of the law was acquitted No sooner did he find himself again breathing the pure air of heaven free from the fetters of his dungeon, than he again essays the dangerous experiment of trying to pass another forged check Suffice it to say that John's endeavors resulted in disastrous failure The cashier after eyeing both John and his bogus check, gently shook his auburn locks and sighed "too thin" So again was our hero incarcerated for this innocent piece of diversion and hauled up before the grand jury This time the technicalities availed nought, for John did not escape Yesterday the Court after administering a gentle reprimand told him that brick-making was a pleasant avocation and its pursuit would keep him healthy for the next two years So Smith's John goes to Salem, and will not have an opportunity to forge any more checks for two years to come

SET FOR THURSDAY.—Last Saturday Dr. C. G Glass and Charles Mealy were arraigned in the Circuit Court on the grave charge of manslaughter Both the defendants entered pleas of not guilty The Court set the trial of these parties for next Thursday This case has elicited a large share of public interest, both in the earlier development of the facts connected therewith and in the preliminary examination In the approaching trial this interest will be greatly augmented and the solution of the question as to the innocence of these persons charged or their guilt, will be awaited with a painful degree of suspense by the public Able counsel will represent the cause of the commonwealth and the defendants will be defended by several very competent lawyers A number of witnesses have been summoned Whatever of mystery that shrouds this sad case will doubtless be cleared away, and every feature of the affair subjected to a careful, searching and thorough investigation Justice, and the implication of the parties concerned who have heretofore maintained respectable standing in the community alike demand that all the light possible shall be shed on this, as yet, mysterious affair

WAIVED AN EXAMINATION.—On the 5th of October a man calling himself Silas Osborn assaulted a married woman who resides along the Canyon road some distance from the city, and by presenting to her head a loaded pistol endeavored to compel her to accede to his lecherous proposals In this, however, he failed for luckily a horseman happened to ride up to the house Osborn fled at the approach of the man, and nothing more was seen of him for some time The woman on whom the attempted outrage was perpetrated came to the city and had a warrant sworn out A few weeks subsequent to the event Osborn was seen on the streets and instantly identified by the woman, but he contrived in the crowd to elude capture On Sunday evening Osborn was again seen, and arrested He was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday morning, but waived an examination His bonds were fixed at $500 The prospect for Osborn to remain in jail until the next term of court is quite flattering, as no action will probably be taken in his case by the grand jury and he is unable to furnish the necessary bail

OLD GAS HOLDER ABANDONED.—We were quite surprised yesterday on observing that the old gas holder near the works, had sunk to a light level with the top of the reservoir As the new gas tank near the corner of F and Sixth streets was finished some weeks since, and all the necessary connections having been effected the gas was diverted yesterday morning from the original mains, and turned into the new The gas thus having been expelled from the old holder, it sank down nearly level with the water For the present the old tank is abandoned and gas will be supplied from the new

CASE CONTINUED.—A Chinaman was arrested late on Saturday evening charged with the larceny of a shirt It appears that the Celestial called at a dry goods store on First street to purchase a shirt While the clerk was engaged in wrapping the article up John took advantage of the moment and secreted another shirt under his clothes He paid for one shirt only which did not happen to suit the dry goods vender who forthwith had him arrested Yesterday the Chinaman was called up before the Police Court but on motion of the defendant's counsel the case was continued until this morning

HANDSOMELY RESPONDED.—We are gratified to note that our citizens have not been backward in responding to the charitable appeals made in behalf of the destitute and disabled soldier Patrick Doyle alluded to in yesterday's issue Quite a neat little sum was raised yesterday in a few hours—sufficient to relieve his present destitution No person should refuse to contribute fifty cents to aid this poor fellow and his sick wife

Medical Bubbles

Columns would be required to enumerate the medical bubbles that have risen to the surface and burst since Hostetter's Stomach Bitters became the standard tonic of the Western Hemisphere Boasts the most extravagant fabrications the most preposterous and the most sickening have in turn been employed to bolster up the worthless preparations that have from time to time been introduced in the hope of dividing the field with that famous vegetable remedy Signal failure has been the lot of all The reputation of the Bitters as a preventive of epidemics, as a stomachic an invigorant a general restorative and a specific for indigestion bilious affections rheumatism nervous debility constitutional weakness paroxysmal fevers and all complaints to which the more sensitive sex are exclusively liable is established upon the sound basis of more than twenty years experience and can no more be shaken by the clap trap nostrums of unscientific pretenders than the everlasting hills by the winds that rustle through their defiles

MARY AND I.

'Twas evening in May and the soft zephyr sighed
Through branches low bending above
My Mary and I as we wandered along
And I whispered of beauty and love
We'll make us a nest like the birdlings I said
And I never shall part any more
Oh yes! she replied and I can furnish it nice
AT HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

Fair creature there's many a wealthier man
Would gladly have you for a bride
But no one can love you more fondly than I—
My treasure my beauty and pride
Oh had I a mansion with carpets of gold
And silver I'd cover the floor
But smiling she said You can purchase the best
AT HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

I'll spread you a couch upon which to recline
When evening shall ask us to rest
Of the daintiest down — but she said with a sigh
I like a hair mattress the best
Then so it shall be and [illegible] tables inlaid
And seats from some far distant shore
Oh no! she exclaimed they have elegant sets
AT HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE

But Mary alas! I must sadly confess
My means are but slender as yet
To furnish a house in the style you demand
Would hopelessly plunge me in debt—
To ask you to share my poor lodgings and board
Is something that I should deplore.
She said with a smile You can buy very cheap
AT HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

To-morrow then love let us journey along
To the corner of Alder and Front street—
'Tis numbers 98 and 100 (river side)
Where lovers so happily meet
How many fond souls might be severed for years
From those they so fondly adore
Were it not for the beautiful furniture they have,
AT HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE,

They have marble top bureaus and elegant sets
Of Bedroom furniture new
With center tables and what nots and mirrors great,
And an endless variety of chairs not a few
They do a cash business and with money in hand
To purchase every style of furniture lower,
Are able to supply all the public demand
AT HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

We went Mary and I and can I ever forget
The pleasure that beamed in her face
As she gazed at the marvels of beauty displayed
In HURGREN & SHINDLER'S place!
We furnished our home in an elegant style
Been married a twelve-month or more,
And Mary is singing this song to her babe,
Of HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

PALMISTRY

In the study of the palm the principal lines are the line of life which runs round the base of the thumb the line of the head which begins beside the line of life between the thumb and the first finger and crosses the middle of the palm and the line of the heart which goes from one side of the hand to the other at the base of the fingers. An unbroken and well defined line of life signifies good health. A breakage in the line reveals impending sickness. If it be in years to come or sickness passed if it be in years gone by. The date can be easily ascertained as the line of life is divided into portions that represent different ages. Thus a line is drawn from the middle of the base of the third finger toward the second joint of the thumb, and the point at which it intersects the line of life will mark the age of ten. If the breakage occurs in a grown person's hand at that point it shows that the person was ill or met with an accident when ten years old. If the fault in the one is a little before the point which marks ten years old then the illness came at the age of nine or eight and so on according to the distance from the point. A line parallel to this one, starting from between the third and last finger, will touch the line of life at the point called twenty. Another parallel line starting from the middle of the base of the little finger, [illegible] you to thirty. The next line goes from the outer edge of the same finger and gives forty. The line to find fifty starts from a little above the line of the heart. No dot or cross belonging to a bygone time warns or menaces but such signs would do so if seen in prospect. Palmistry by forewarning forearms. There are indications elsewhere, showing what kind of danger to apprehend, and M Desbarrolles is fond of repeating the old saying Homo sapiens dominabitur astris. A long and well-defined line of the head promises intellectual power. If the line be so long as to go to the edge of the hand it indicates too much calculation—meanness. It should start from the side of the line of life, between the first finger and the thumb and cross the palm nearly horizontally, losing itself before the third finger or thereabouts. If the line ends under the second finger, that is to say, about the centre of the palm, it denotes stupidity. If the line be formed of a series of small lines like a chain instead of one clear mark, it is a sign of want of concentration of the ideas. A pale line of the head means indecision. If it turn downward at the wrist it indicates a mind that takes a too imaginative view of the things. If it be bifurcated at the end half going downward and half continuing in the same direction as the major part of the line, it denotes deceit—double dealing. This line supplies a great many other indications, but we will now pass on to the line of the heart. If this line be well marked, and if it go from the edge of the hand below the little finger across the roots of the fingers to the base of the first finger, it promises an affectionate disposition and a good memory. Many mental qualities are promised us by a good line of the heart. It does not merely supply indications regarding the affections. The poetical or the artistic, or the imaginative, may be inferred as a part of the character foreshadowed by a well defined, well-colored line of the heart. A good line of the heart also augurs well for the happiness of its possessor; the gypsies say it is a "good omen." If this line sends down short lines toward the line of the head, it may be taken to signify that the love of the person will only be given to those who have already earned that person's respect—that affection will wait upon esteem. If, on the contrary, the small line goes upward toward the fingers then the likings will be impulsive and instinctive. A line of the heart with a great many breakages foretells inconstancy.—Saint Paul's Magazine.

THE APACHES.

SOMETHING ABOUT THEIR WOMEN AND POWERS OF ENDURANCE

The usual presents to parents for their daughters are horses, guns fire arms blankets and trinkets. Some girls, daughters of chiefs cost as much as twenty five horses, not on account of their beauty but the honor of the thing. A man can discard or sell his wife. She has no voice in the transaction. Physically the Apaches are probably one of the handsomest of the Indian race, especially the females. Their complexion is a nut brown; many of the women are charming brunettes; black hair and eyes; the latter medium in size and oblique in shape; magnificent teeth; good mouths; the contour of the face oval and emaciated in the men, round and full in the women. In figure medium, the men averaging five feet five inches, the women four feet eleven inches, the men deficient in, the women replete with adipose tissue. The chests, shoulders and arms of the men are very lean, flabby and muscles illy developed, those of the women full and round, the result of the former of total abstinence from, of the latter entire monopoly of labor.

The women with constitutions unimpaired by the vices of the men, attain a greater age and are usually heavier in weight. Men attain full physical development at twenty to twenty two, women at fourteen. Many girls become mothers at from ten to twelve, and average 130 pounds in weight at the latter age. Their health is usually good, the only disease prevailing being rheumatism.

The Apaches are decided pedestrians, and being accustomed to running and climbing feats from earliest infancy, are capable of great endurance in this direction. A Mr Walker informed me at Camp Apache that he once made the distance between Zunis and Camp Apache, 120 miles, with a pair of good mules in 16½ hours but was beaten 2½ hours by an Apache, who left Zunis on foot at the same time with himself. He also offered to wager $500 that the same Indian could beat any horse or mule in Arizona for 340 miles. At such times the Indians keep up a swinging gait or "dog trot," not relaxing their speed for a moment for, if need be, twenty-four hours. They run down deer in this manner. A buck starts a deer and denuding himself of all clothing follows him all day, managing so as to compel the animal to run constantly over malpais ground, volcano rocks, etc. At noon the deer becomes overheated, his hoofs drop off and he lies down but is off again when his pursuer is upon him. But the Indian knows the strategy of his victim, follows him relentlessly, increases his speed and at last comes up with and lances him.

"A TRUE FACKT ABOUT CATS."—A small boy sent an Albany paper the following information:

A fu days ago we lost our cat. She got drowned in Mr ——'s well. But nobody knowd she got drowned in the well and Mr ——'s fokes and Mr ——'s fokes and all the nabors besides drinked outen the well just the same. Tha drinked mor'n tha ever did after I guess cause the water tasted so swete. I went 2 the well for water tother da and I seed the cat in the well. She was dead. She was all swelled up round drowned. Me and Billy fisht her out with a hook and line. She smelt orful. But the nabors dount drink any mor water outen the well now. Wat I cant understand is why tha dount. Tha oughtent B mor afraid 2 drink the water wen the cat is out than wen she is in. I think [illegible] troofy. N. B. this is a true fackt.

[illegible] that the demand [illegible] the [illegible] will [illegible] with the generally [illegible] a more cheerful state of affairs will prevail. In this as in many other of our exchanges, the one great duty lying upon all classes of business men, is to pay their debts promptly. We urged this weeks ago and would still further impress it upon the minds of debtors. Too many people take advantage of [illegible] and postpone paying their obligations until their [illegible] wholesale dealers press [illegible] their creditors [illegible] to purchase advantageously and [illegible] and the hoarding of money by customers [illegible] during their collecting tours cripples the great fountain heads of trade, and damages the interests of customers to quite as great an extent as it proves detrimental to the wholesale dealer. It then behooves every business man to put forth strenuous efforts to pay his debts, and this only can be done by the exercise of nerve and an indefatigable exertion in making prompt collections.

The Eastern Wool Market

The Chronicle's commercial letter from New York dated Nov 2d has this:

The Wool trade is almost in a state of stagnation. The only sales have been small lots taken up for immediate consumption. Manufacturers are not making full time and their wants are readily supplied from the small offerings made by the weaker houses at prices made below the nominal range of the markets. Stronger houses still adhere to former prices and are not disposed to yield though they report that large mill owners who are in an easy financial position would purchase freely at a slight reduction. There is considerable Wool now going forward to Europe, where the demand is much better than it is here. Room was yesterday engaged for 200 bales of Australian to London. Sales comprise 20 bales and 1000 lbs Spring [illegible] 14,000 lbs Fall at [illegible] bales spring [illegible] bales new Fall 17 bags scoured on private terms. The Boston market has been quiet and the dulness is having some effect on prices and sales are at lower figures than since the panic. California Wool has sold to the extent of [illegible] lbs at [illegible] for Spring, and [illegible] for Fall.

Iron Manufacture on the Pacific Coast.

The San Francisco Chronicle on the above topic says

Dazzled by the glitter of gold in our placers and the silver in our mountains, it was not till recently that our people became aware of the extent and value of their other mineral riches and not till within the past two years have our inexhaustible iron deposits begun to attract attention. In fact it is not long since it was a question whether we possessed any deposits sufficiently extensive to render reduction practicable. That however is no longer a mooted point. Deposits as rich as any in the world have been discovered and two companies have already been formed to work them, whose furnaces will be at work before many months have passed. One will be started in Oregon by a well known Portland firm, and it is said that they have fields of ore on hand. Another will be in El Dorado county. In this State, where there is a mountain of iron, and the company is now being formed. Such are the facts, as we have been given them by a prominent iron firm of this city. That even in supplying our local needs there is an abundant field for their operations, may be inferred when it is known that we import over 15,000 tons of pig and 30,000 tons of manufactured iron, or a total of 45,000 tons annually, and that our needs are continually on the increase. To supply all this would require six large furnaces. The projected companies aim to supply the demand for unmanufactured iron alone, and that is all they will be able to do, and we hope to chronicle the formation of many more such companies ere long. We have Mexico, British Columbia, Central America, the western coast of South America, Australia and the Islands as customers when ever we shall be able to supply their needs.

Miscellaneous.

The import entries of foreign merchandise at New York including the dry goods return amount for the week ending October 30 to $5,830,092 as compared with $7,4[illegible] same week last year. The exports of domestic produce were $7,420,568 as against $5,866,824 last year. The exports of gold and silver $362,371 as against $1,416,535 last year.

The Farmer says: The Salem mills have a cargo almost ready for the Celestial, a 1,400 ton ship now on the way from San Francisco, to load with flour for Liverpool. She can load and leave without an hour's detention for her loading.

A New York exchange of the 30th ult says: The extensive print works of Garner & Co. of Little Falls, Cohoes, Rochester, Pleasant valley, Newburg and Haverstraw, stopped work on Saturday and 10,000 men are out of employment. Firms which paid $500,000 a month to their employes in factories in other places have either stopped work or reduced their time and wages.

The exports of breadstuffs and provisions from the ports of Portland, Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore for the week ending October [illegible] were: Flour [illegible] barrels, wheat [illegible] bushels, corn [illegible] bushels, rye [illegible] bushels, pork [illegible] barrels, bacon [illegible] pounds, lard [illegible] pounds.

The visible supply of grain in the United States and Canada October 18th was: Wheat [illegible] bushels, corn [illegible] bushels, oats [illegible] bushels, barley [illegible] bushels, rye 275,[illegible] bushels.

New York warehouses contain [illegible] bushels of wheat, [illegible] bushels of corn, [illegible] bushels of oats, [illegible] bushels of rye, [illegible] bushels of barley, and 91,000 bushels of malt.

Chicago elevators at the commencement of business Monday the [illegible] contained [illegible] bushels of grain, embracing [illegible] bushels of wheat, [illegible] bushels of corn, [illegible] bushels of oats, [illegible] bushels of rye and [illegible] bushels of barley, against 4,440,228 bushels one week ago and [illegible] bushels at this period last year.

Home Produce Market.

Business in this line to-day has been quiet and very few changes have occurred since our last review. There are now twelve sea going vessels in our port and they are taking on a large quantity of the surplus products, principally grain, which have blocked our warehouses for weeks past.

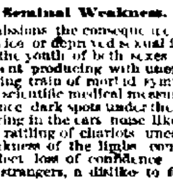
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained [illegible] apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR. GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Post office or through Wells Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN. jy6d4p
